

WESTERN STATE UNIVERSITY
COLLEGE OF LAW
REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS
SECTION 472A

SYLLABUS, POLICIES, AND ASSIGNMENTS
2014 SPRING SEMESTER
Dean C. Sheppard

CLASS MATERIALS:

Required Text: George Lefcoe, REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS, FINANCE, AND DEVELOPMENT, 6th Ed., (2009 LexisNexis)

COURSE COVERAGE AND OPPORTUNITIES:

You will be presented with opportunities to learn how residential and commercial real property is bought, sold, financed, or developed and the services an attorney might render with respect to a particular type of real estate transaction. You will have the opportunity to review and apply various principles of property law that you first encountered in the basic Property courses (Property I and Property II). You will also have the opportunity to learn principles of property law that were not, or which may not have been, covered to any extent in your Property I and Property II classes.

The topics that will be covered in this course are:

- General observations about buying and selling real estate in the United States.
- Deciding whether to rent or to buy, federal tax considerations, and negotiating pointers
- The marketing of residential or commercial realty: real estate brokers, listing agreements, applicable securities law
- Purchase-and-sale agreements:
  - Parties to such agreements; statutes of frauds
  - Following the money – the purchase price, initial deposits, components of mortgage debt, and financing contingencies; the subject property
  - The subject property – inspections, seller liability for defective conditions, fixtures, risk of loss
  - The quality of a seller’s title – marketable title, alternatives to the marketable title standard, contract provisions, building and zoning codes
  - Time for performance
  - The merger doctrine

- Remedies for breach: mediation, arbitration, judicial review; specific performance; liquidated damages
- Residential mortgage lending
- Commercial mortgage lending
- Prepayment of Mortgage Loans
- The selling or further hypothecating of mortgaged property by the debtor
- Recording Acts
- Title Insurance
- Real estate escrows and closings
- Deeds
- Descriptions of lands and boundary disputes
- The Mortgagee's interest in the security property
- The Mortgagee's right to rents before and after foreclosure
- Mortgage foreclosure
- Allocating foreclosure proceeds and anti-deficiency legislation
- Alternatives to foreclosure: Workouts and deeds in lieu of foreclosure
- Development and construction financing
- Construction contracts
- Mechanics' liens
- Methods of financial analysis for real estate investments
- Selecting an entity for real estate investment
- Alternative mortgage instruments (AMI's)
- Leases as financing devices
- Commercial leasing
- Obtaining entitlements for real estate development

Topics addressed in the text that are NOT part of the assigned reading for this course are:

- Public/Private Real Estate Ventures

COURSE METHODOLOGY:

Classroom instruction and interaction in this course will take the form of in-class discussions, in-class collaborative problem solving exercises, and in-class student presentations or simulations.

FINAL EXAM AND GRADING:

Your grade in the course will be determined by points that you earn regarding in-class presentations and simulations and your final exam score. Forty percent of your course grade will be based on the points you earn regarding in-class presentations and simulations. Sixty percent of your course grade will be based on your final exam score.

The final exam will be either a three-hour, in-class performance exam or a take-home exam. I will announce the format of the final exam prior to the last class session.

If the final exam will be in the form of a three-hour, in-class performance exam, you will be required to perform a particular task or set of tasks using the statement or statements of facts [“the file”] and the statements of law [“the library”] which will comprise part of the exam packet. As with any performance exam, you will need to expend most of your time reading and assessing the exam facts and law prior to performing the required task or tasks. Following instructions, paying attention to details, and responding to the call of the question (i.e., performing the required task) are the keys to a student’s successful completion of a performance exam. Professor Dennis Tonsing notes on page 142 of his text “1000 Days to the Bar—But the Practice of Law Begins Now: How to Achieve Your Personal Best in Law School” that “[u]nlike an essay test or a multiple choice test, [a performance exam] does not test examinees’ knowledge of particular laws—rather, it tests their ability to use laws to produce a lawyerlike product, for example, a will, a lease, or a legal memorandum.” (Italics in the original)

If I assign a take-home final exam, you will be on your honor to perform each task required of you without any type of assistance whatsoever from any other person.

The quality of your response to an exam question or task will be assessed on its own merit or lack of merit without regard to the level of quality of the response of any other member of the class. In other words, I do not use any predetermined curve as part of the grading process.

OFFICE HOURS, OFFICE TELEPHONE, E-MAIL, FAX:

I expect to maintain the following office hours beginning Monday, January 13, and ending Wednesday, April 30.

Mondays: 10:00 a.m. until Noon and 3:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m.

Tuesdays: 10:00 a.m. until Noon and 4:15 p.m. until 6:00 p.m.

Wednesdays: 10:00 a.m. until Noon

You are required to “sign-up” for office appointments using the appointments book maintained by the faculty secretarial staff. Office appointments will be conducted in 15-minute blocks of time. You may reserve a maximum of two consecutive blocks of time (i.e., one-half hour) per office appointment. Appointments for two or more students at a time are encouraged.

ATTENDANCE, CLASS PARTICIPATION, DECORUM, AND SEATING:

Class attendance is mandatory. If you miss more than six hours of class sessions, you will be subject to being administratively withdrawn from the course. I refer you to the applicable sections of the Western State University College of Law "Student Handbook" ("the Handbook") regarding attendance. Please take note that those provisions of the Handbook are to be treated as being part of this syllabus as though they were reprinted verbatim in this portion of this syllabus.

You should be prepared to participate in class on a regular basis. In order to be properly prepared for class, you are required to study all portions of the reading assignments. Properly preparing yourself for class includes, but is not limited to, reading and briefing each of the principal cases included in the assigned reading, making an effort to resolve each of assigned text questions and reading and reviewing all footnotes included in the assigned reading.

You are expected to maintain proper decorum when entering, participating in, and leaving class sessions. You should become familiar with the appropriate provisions of the Handbook regarding the behavior expected of you as a member of the Western State community.

A seating chart will be distributed during the initial session of the class.

READING ASSIGNMENTS:

You are required to complete the study of all of the text material included in the assigned reading prior to the commencement of the class during which that material will be addressed. You will not gain the full benefit of the classroom discussions or other in-class exercises if you have not actively studied the assigned reading.
