TEXTS: Michael Hunter Schwartz, Expert Learning for Law Students
Ruth Ann McKinney, Reading Like a Lawyer
Marty Peters, Juris Types
A legal dictionary

FACULTY: Professor Paula Manning
Professor Lisa Blasser
Professor Tina Schindler

Course Methodology: The class begins the week following orientation and meets once per day, and then continues through the first semester, meeting once per week. Unique features of the course include: (1) multiple opportunities for practice and feedback with respect to the knowledge and skills that are the objectives of the course; (2) exercises designed to help students learn, understand and remember the course materials; (3) team based learning activities; and (4) substantial emphasis on teaching students the learning, reading and thinking skills they need to succeed in law school, in practice and on the bar exam.

Course Goals and Objectives: To assist students in developing the skills necessary to succeed in law school, in practice and on the bar exam—and to make students more effective and successful as law students. More specifically, by the end of the course, successful students will have: (1) developed the learning skills they need to succeed in law school; (2) begun to develop legal-analytical skills, particularly the skills involved in identifying legal issues, understanding and using rules of law, and using and analyzing facts; (3) developed the ability to read and understand court opinions and legal rules, and (4) developed their ability to express ideas and understanding regarding legal issues, both orally and in writing.

Other specific course goals:

Values:

- Demonstrate respect for other students, staff and faculty;
- Develop an attitude of cooperation with students, faculty, lawyers, and judges;
- Demonstrate honesty, reliability, responsibility, judgment, self-motivation, hard work, and critical self-reflection.
Skills:

- Hone learning and study strategies
- Organize thoughts and materials before speaking or writing
- Identify relevant facts in cases, class discussion and on examinations, and be able to use facts to support a position, evaluate a claim and identify potential alternatives;
- Articulate policy arguments to convince a court to broaden or narrow a prior decision or rule of law and/or to demonstrate the soundness of a conclusion on an essay examination;
- Demonstrate in writing how lawyers solve problems—by understanding what laws they use, how they apply the law to new facts, and how they use those facts to make arguments to judges or juries;
- Respond to an essay question using an IRAC format;
- Apply and analyze the law.

• Teaching and Learning Methods used in this course:

  - Reading background material
  - Reading and briefing cases
  - Lecture
  - Writing assignments
  - Small group quizzes and other exercises
  - Whole class, small group and team discussion and problem solving

• Attendance: As required by the American Bar Association, the body that accredits law schools, class attendance is mandatory. This may differ from what you have been used to in your undergraduate or other graduate education. Please inform your professor of actual or anticipated excessive absences (more than 2 classes). A student who misses more than two classes will not receive credit for the course. If you are concerned about your absences or ability to meet this policy, please let your professor know as soon as possible, so we can work through any problems.

• Course Grading: Successful completion of this course is a requirement for graduation from the Law School. The course will be graded based on the following:

  1) Attendance. Attendance is required—both because lawyers are required to appear where they are expected, and because most of the learning and application of the required reading for this course occurs during participation in class exercises. If you arrive late, leave during class time or depart early (without prior permission), you will be marked absent for that session. If you miss more than two class sessions, you will receive a failing grade in the course.
2) Preparation and Participation: Class participation is also required—part of being a law student and a lawyer is engaging in discussion, including presenting your ideas and being able to respond to questions. Legal education is a cooperative venture, and lawyers must be able to orally communicate their ideas. Please note there is a significant difference between being unprepared and being unable to “answer” a question. You do not need to be an expert, but you must read and think about the assigned materials, complete assigned work and be ready to engage and discuss this work and your thoughts with others. If you are not prepared for some classes you may be asked to leave, because the class will be discussing materials related to assignments and it is only appropriate to have the discussion with students who have already completed the assignment.

You should stay sufficiently ahead on your assignments to ensure your readiness to participate for each class. Neither the assertion that you did not anticipate the class or group getting so far, nor that you read the assignment too long ago to remember it, nor that you are having trouble keeping up with your other courses, will excuse a failure to be prepared. You will not be deemed unprepared simply because you venture an incorrect answer in class (unless, of course, your answer reflects inadequate preparation).

3) Professional Engagement: As you may know, you are creating your professional reputation in the law. Accordingly, please behave as the best attorneys do. This includes paying attention and listening to what others say, as well as working with others collectively, to learn the material and skills in this course. Also:

- Please be prepared for class and be ready to work. Please listen to others, avoid dominating the discussion, take risks and be resourceful.
- Please seek help when you realize you need it or when recommended; take the initiative to improve your skills.
- Please show up every day on time and stay in class the whole time.
- When you are assigned to work in teams, everyone in the team has the responsibility of making sure that the team works together effectively and efficiently.

Professional engagement includes:

- Resourcefulness. If you have problem, first try to figure out a way to solve it.
- Taking appropriate risks. For some this means volunteering to speak in a class. For others it is the risk of being silent and not leading a discussion. It may mean admitting you are off track or that you need help with an aspect of the course.
- Behavior in class. Be respectful of others by encouraging others to talk during group work. Listening is an enormous part of effective lawyering. If you finish an exercise early or before others, ask for feedback or work on other aspects of the course.

- Computer usage. Using a computer in a way that does not support your learning (facebook, email, etc.) will be considered an absence.

- Attitude. Have a positive approach to working with others, including your professor. If you have a complaint, including one about the course, voice it directly, in person to those that are involved (and be prepared to offer a solution).

- Timeliness. Complete and turn in all work on time.

- Attention to work product. Be thoughtful about what you say and what you turn in; be sure it reflects your best work.

- Growth. If you have received feedback on an assignment try to understand and use it. If one approach doesn’t work, try another—and reflect on what works and what doesn’t. Struggle with analyzing a problem before asking about it or giving up—but also remember to ask questions and seek help when your struggle doesn’t produce the results you hope for.

- Perseverance. A student that does not give up, but keeps working to develop his or her skills, regardless of where he or she is, is acting professionally.

4) Completion of all assignments set out on the syllabus. For most class sessions you will be preparing homework assignments. The assignments will help you practice the skills on which you will be tested on your law school examinations, and the bar examination. Because the goals of all of these assignments include giving you practice and feedback, initially you will not be graded on the accuracy of your answers; you will, however, be graded on the extent to which your submissions reflect and demonstrate your effort to do the assignments well. To pass each of the initial assignments you must prepare an answer to each assigned question or exercise that reflects a genuine effort to successfully complete the assignment and a genuine effort to implement the feedback that is given on prior assignments.

As the semester progresses and you have had an opportunity to practice the skills, the difficulty level of the assignments and the professor’s expectations will increase. Your final grade will reflect the quality of the work you turn in throughout the semester, the extent to which you have implemented the feedback you are given on the initial assignments, and the extent to which you demonstrate mastery of the skills taught in the course.

NOTE: A lawyer is expected to meet deadlines; failure to turn in documents on time may have serious consequences, including the loss of a clients’ right to present a claim or defense. It is important to begin to exhibit the professionalism that is required of a practicing lawyer, including submitting all documents (assignments) on time. Therefore, late assignments will not be accepted. Failure to hand in an assignment on time will result in a reduced grade and may also result in a failing grade in the course.

- Course Web Page: The course has its own web page. To get to the course web page, you will need a Westlaw password which will be provided to you during the first week of class.

- Seating Chart: A seating chart will be distributed at the beginning of the first class. Please print the name (first and last) you wish to be called in the space reflecting the seat you have chosen for the semester. Any student whose name does not appear on the chart will be dropped from the course.

- Disability Services: Western State College of Law provides accommodations to qualified students with disabilities. The Disabilities Services Office assists qualified students with disabilities in acquiring reasonable and appropriate accommodations and in supporting equal access to services, programs, and activities at Western State College of Law.

To seek reasonable accommodations, a student must contact Senior Assistant Dean Donna Espinoza, Student Services Director and Disabilities Services Coordinator, whose office is in the Second Floor Students Services Suite. Dean Espinoza’s phone number and email address are: (714) 459-1117; despinoza@wsulaw.edu. When seeking accommodations, a student should notify Dean Espinoza of her or his specific limitations and, if known, her or his specific requested accommodations. Students who seek accommodations will be asked to supply medical documentation of the need for accommodation. Classroom accommodations are not retroactive, but are effective only upon the student sharing approved accommodations with the instructor or professor. Therefore, students are encouraged to request accommodations as early as feasible with Dean Espinoza to allow for time to gather necessary documentation. If you have a concern or complaint in this regard, please notify Dean Espinoza; or please notify Associate Dean of Students Charles Sheppard at csheppard@wsulaw.edu or (714) 459-1152. Complaints will be handled in accordance with the College of Law’s “Policy against Discrimination and Harassment.”

- Academic Misconduct Policy: All students are expected to conduct themselves appropriately and ethically in their academic work. Inappropriate and unethical behavior includes (but is not limited to) giving or receiving unauthorized aid on examinations or in the preparation of papers or other assignments, or knowingly misrepresenting the source of academic work.

- Assignments: Attached are the reading assignments and class topics. Assignments may be altered or supplemented.

- Office Hours, Appointments and E-mail: Students may use office hours to address concerns regarding any of the course material or for other guidance. Faculty will discuss office hours during class session 1.
NOTE: All reading assignments should be completed prior to coming to class. Please read chapters 1-8 of the Schwartz text and chapters 1-4 of the McKinney text prior to the first Orientation session.
