COLLEGE OF LAW

PROPERTY I – Spring 2018

SYLLABUS AND COURSE POLICIES

Professor Todd Brower
e-mail: tbrower@wsulaw.edu

Office hours:

Monday and Wednesday: 10:30 AM --12:00 PM and Tuesday 2:30 PM – 5:30 PM for all students.

Monday and Wednesday 8:30 – 9:00 AM for students in Property 1 only; Monday and Wednesday 1:00 – 1:30 PM for students in Constitutional Law 2 (day section) only Tuesday 6:10-6:40 PM for students in Constitutional Law 2 (night section) only. Questions can also be submitted via email.

I will be available for office hours by appointment. Please make appointments in the book outside the faculty offices on the 2nd floor. Please do not contact me to schedule appointments. If you have scheduled an appointment and need to cancel, please call them as soon as possible. Other students may be waiting for appointments and may be able to take your slot. You may make telephone appointments, if you cannot make scheduled office hours.

The Academic Receptionist on the second floor makes all my appointments. Please do not call me to cancel or to schedule an appointment. Evening students may make a call-in appointment, if you set it up in the appointment book when you make the original appointment.

As listed above, I will also be in class approximately 30 minutes before the starting time. These are office hours created especially for this class. This is an open session in which you can always ask questions. There are no appointments needed; first-come, first-served.

Required books: Dukeminier & Krier, et al Property: Concise Edition, (2nd ed. 2017).

The required text is to be brought to all classes. Additional handouts may be assigned.

There is a required course webpage available at <http://webcourses.lexisnexis.com/> You will need a password to access it. The password is "password".

You are also responsible for checking the course webpage and doing any assignments online in the time allotted. Online assignments have deadlines for completion. Once assignment and submission deadlines have passed, you will not be able to submit or access those materials.

Course description and objectives:

Property I is a three-unit, graded course. It is part of the basic required curriculum for all students.

The purpose of this course is to explore the system of real property ownership in the United States. We will focus on the system for land sales transactions, on public and private land-use planning devices, and other doctrines concerning the rights and duties of property ownership. Please also see the class, WSCL, and Argosy objectives listed at a later section of this document.

Examinations and Grading

Property I is taught and graded separately from Property II. Grading in this class shall be numerical on a 4.0 scale.

Each student will receive a numeric grade for the course 4.0 to 0.0. Course grades will be based on the final examination and successful completion of other exercises that may possibly be given throughout the semester.

Written Exercises: There may be mandatory, graded, written exercises and/or exams throughout the semester. Failure to satisfactorily complete all these assignments will result in a lowering of your final course grade by 0.3 – 0.4 depending on the original grade. For example, if your grade would ordinarily have been 3.3 in the course, you will receive a 3.0; if your grade would have been a 2.7, you will receive a 2.3.

Midterm and Final Exam: The midterm will count as 25% of your final course grade. Format to be announced later.

The final examination will count 75% of the course grade. The final exam will consist of a multiple-choice section that counts for 25% of the course grade, and an essay section that counts for 50% of the course grade.

Class Participation: Normally, class participation will not count towards the overall course grade. However, consistent lack of preparation over the semester may result in a reduction of up to 10% of the overall course grade.

Copies of my previous examinations will be available on the course website. Students are encouraged to take practice examinations. I will be happy to review practice examinations in my office during office hours.

Attendance and Participation

A seating chart will be distributed at the beginning of the first class. Please print your name legibly in the seat you choose for your permanent seat. If you wish to change your seat, please notify me so that the seating chart can be adjusted accordingly.

I strongly encourage you to choose a seat near the front of the classroom. Educational studies show that students sitting near the front benefit most from the classroom experience. Because all students will be required to participate, your seat choice will not enhance or reduce the likelihood of your being chosen to recite in class. Because I make every effort to learn the names of each student in my classes, your choice of seat will not assure you of anonymity either.

Classes begin promptly at the scheduled time. Please be in your seat for the start of class. Students who arrive late disrupt the learning process for others. If you are unavoidably late, please enter quietly through the rear entrance and take your assigned seat.

I will take attendance at the beginning of each class. In accordance with the Western State student handbook, if you miss more than six hours of classes, you will be academically dismissed from the course. Additionally, if you arrive late or depart early without permission, you may be marked absent for the entire session.

Disability Services Statement:

Western State College of Law provides accommodations to qualified students with disabilities. The Disabilities Services Office assists qualified students with disabilities in acquiring reasonable and appropriate accommodations and in supporting equal access to services, programs, and activities at Western State College of Law.

To seek reasonable accommodations, a student must contact Senior Assistant Dean Donna Espinoza, Student Services Director and Disabilities Services Coordinator, whose office is in the Students Services Suite 119. Dean Espinoza's phone number and email address are: (714) 459-1117; despinoza@wsulaw.edu. When seeking accommodations, a student should notify Dean Espinoza of her or his specific limitations and, if known, her or his specific requested accommodations. Students who seek accommodations will be asked to supply medical documentation of the need for accommodation. Classroom accommodations are not retroactive, but are effective only upon the student sharing approved accommodations with the instructor or professor. Therefore, students are encouraged to request accommodations as early as feasible with Dean Espinoza to allow for time to gather necessary documentation. If you have a concern or complaint in this regard, please notify Dean Espinoza; or please notify Dean Allen Easley at aeasley@wsulaw.edu or (714) 459-1168. Complaints will be handled in accordance with the College of Law's "Policy against Discrimination and Harassment."

Assignments:

I have listed the reading assignments for the entire semester. Please read the entire assignment before the first class for each topic.

You will note that there are not that many pages assigned in the casebook. That is because most of the work that you will do outside of class will be regular mandatory problem sets and assignments that will be found on the course webpage and must be turned in online. Therefore, although it may take multiple weeks to finish a block of assigned material, you will be working with all the material as a group in class and on your written online assignments and it is necessary to read the entire assignment initially.

Preparation and work for class is normally expected to be at least two hours of out of class work for every hour we spend in class. This includes not only the required reading, but also the assignments, quizzes, and material found on the course webpage.

Final Examination

The following are explicit goals and objectives for this course:

Doctrinal Knowledge

Students will demonstrate knowledge of the substantive law of Property Law 1, including the estate system, easements, profits and licenses, and real covenants, equitable servitudes, and reciprocal negative easements.

Legal Analysis

Students will demonstrate the ability to identify the factual and legal issues implicated by a fact pattern and to appropriately use cases (including identifying the salient features of an appropriate precedent case, identifying legally significant similarities or differences between the precedent case and a fact pattern and explaining why those are legally significant) and rules (including the ability to connect legally significant facts in a fact pattern to the rule) to predict how a court would decide the issue. Students will also demonstrate the ability to identify and evaluate the public policies of a precedent case or rule, and be able to evaluate how public policy can impact the application of a rule to the legal issue.

Advocacy of Legal Argument

Students will demonstrate the ability, in both oral and written formats, to evaluate the legal, economic and social strengths and weaknesses of a case and use case and statutory authority as well as public policy to persuade others. Making policy-based arguments includes the ability to identify and evaluate the public policies of a precedent case or rule and their implications, and be able to assert such appropriate arguments to support a particular application or distinction of a precedent case to a legal controversy or a particular resolution of the application of a rule to the legal controversy.

Western State College of Law – Programmatic Learning Outcomes

Western State College of Law’s curriculum is designed so that every student achieves a level of competency prior to graduation in each of the eight Programmatic Learning Outcomes listed below:

Doctrinal Knowledge

Students will demonstrate knowledge of substantive and procedural law in the core curriculum subjects, including Contracts, Criminal Law, Criminal Procedure, Torts, Real Property, Business Association, Evidence, Civil Procedures, Constitutional Law, Estates, Community Property, Remedies, and Professional Responsibility.

Practice Skills

Students will demonstrate the development of other law practice skills. Each student’s chosen outcomes within this category will be varied based on the student’s particular interests, coursework and work experiences. They may include, but are not limited to, the following topics: oral presentation and advocacy; interviewing; counseling; client service and business development; negotiations, mediation, arbitration, or other alternate dispute resolution methods; advanced legal research and writing (excluding purely academic papers and the first four units earned in introductory first-year legal research and writing class); applied legal writing such as drafting contracts, pleadings, other legal instruments; law practice management or the use of technology in law practice; cultural competency; collaboration or project management; financial analysis, such as accounting, budgeting project management, and valuation; cost benefit analysis in administrative agencies; use of technology, data analyses, or predictive coding; business strategy and behavior; pre-trial preparation, fact investigation, such as discovery, e-discovery, motion practice, assessing evidence, or utilizing experts; trial practice; professional civility and applied ethics; a law clinic that includes a classroom component; or a legal externship that includes a classroom component.

Legal Analysis

Students will demonstrate the ability to identify the factual and legal issues implicated by a fact pattern and to appropriately use cases (including identifying the salient features of an appropriate precedent case, identifying legally significant similarities or differences between the precedent case and a fact pattern and explaining why those are legally significant) and rules (including the ability to connect legally significant facts in a fact pattern to the rule) to predict how a court would decide the issue. Students will also demonstrate the ability to identify and evaluate the public policies of a precedent case or rule, and be able to evaluate how public policy can impact the application of a rule to the legal issue.

Legal Research

Students will demonstrate the ability to locate relevant legal authority using a variety of book and electronic resources, and to properly cite to such legal authority.

Communication

Students will demonstrate the ability to communicate both orally and in writing in a manner appropriate to a particular task to effectively convey the author or speaker's ideas. This includes audience sensitivity in written and oral communication (the ability to adopt a tone, style and level of detail appropriate to the needs, knowledge and expertise of the audience); and written communication basic proficiency (the ability to use the conventions of grammar, spelling, punctuation, diction and usage appropriate to the task and sufficient to convey effectively the author's ideas).

Advocacy of Legal Argument

Students will demonstrate the ability, in both oral and written formats, to evaluate the legal, economic and social strengths and weaknesses of a case and use case and statutory authority as well as public policy to persuade others. Making policy-based arguments includes the ability to identify and evaluate the public policies of a precedent case or rule and their implications, and be able to assert such appropriate arguments to support a particular application or distinction of a precedent case to a legal controversy or a particular resolution of the application of a rule to the legal controversy.

Client Sensitivity and Cultural Competency

Students will demonstrate an awareness of clients' needs and goals, including a sensitivity to clients' background and circumstances (including, but not limited to, socio-economic, gender, race, ethnicity, educational, disability and/or religious background(s)), the ability to make decisions that reflect an appropriate focus on those needs and goals, and awareness that cultural issues may affect the relevance of facts and application of the law.

Legal Ethics

Students will demonstrate the ability to identify ethical issues in law practice contexts and make appropriate decisions to resolve such issues.
